MRS. REBECCA EDENS LYNCH

The death of this good woman on Sept. 4, 1922, and of which we published a brief account two weeks ago, calls for more than a passing notice.

In her young womanhood character and virtue were the cherished and cordial attributes of life.

She was the daughter of Mr. William Edens and was born in 1832. All her life she lived in the Ooleney section at the foot of Table Rock.

She married Mr. Nathaniel Lynch in 1850 and he died 45 years ago, leaving her with six small children to care for and raise.

Her husband served throughout the Confederate war and during those trying times Mrs. Lynch, like many other Southern mothers, was struggling at home to keep the wolf from the door, for herself and children and yet, doing all she could for the cause for which her husband was fighting.

About four months previous to her death she sustained an injury to her hip from a fall. Her general health up to that time had been good, and until the end her mind was bright and clear.

Her whole life was made up of good deeds and truly it can be said of her "she hath done what she could."

Her Lord took her spirit to be with him on Sept. 4, 1922, and the day following her body was laid to rest in the Lynch family burying ground in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends.

The old home is lonely now while her chair in the corner is vacant, the beautiful stream of sparkling water which flows and ripples on by the home is like the influence of her life—going on forever.

WILLIAM ANDREW SATTERFIELD.

On the evening of August 31, 1922, death came and claimed as its victim William Andrew Satterfield. His health had been declining for ten or twelve years but his death came as a shock to his friends.

He had borne his suffering through all these years with remarkable patience. Mr. Satterfield was 56 years, 10 months and 3 days of age. Those of the immediate family who survive him are his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Margaret Whitlock, Nora and Lela Satterfield.

Although unable to attend church regularly on account of ill health, his life was one of obedience to his Father's will. He was never heard to complain of his affliction. He loved his fellow man and was ever ready to help in time of need.

Rev. B. C. Atkinson conducted the funeral and his remains were laid to rest in the Six Mile cemetery on the afternoon of Sept. 1st.

The funeral showed the esteem in which he was held. The floral contribution was beautiful. We would point the bereaved ones to Him who doeth all things well and may his life inspire us to greater and nobler things.

BALLEW AGAIN IN ATTEMPTED ESCAPE

Columbia, Sept. 12.—Penitentiary authorities nipped another attempted escape in the bud yesterday at 12:30 o'clock when they discovered two prisoners ready to leave through a window in the chair factory.

The men were C. D. Cooper, sent up from Marlboro county for life on a charge of murder, and Wade H. Ballew, sent up from Pickens county on a manslaughter charge.

Both Cooper and Ballew have been in other attempted escapes and were in stripes yesterday for one of these offenses. They were both in the recent riot at the prison.

Yesterday at the noon hour the men "checked" out of the chair factory and one was found missing at the time. A few minutes later Captain Roberts was "tipped off" that the two were hiding out and he stationed a guard on the outside near the canal bank to watch developments.

PICKENS SCHOOL OPENING POSTPONED.

The Pickens High School will begin its next session on September 25, instead of September 18 as has been previously announced.

The building and equipment will not be ready by the first date. Examinations will be held on the 25th. All patrons of the school and everyone who is interested in having the best school is urged to attend the opening.

It would be encouraging for everyone to stop work and give one hour to the good of school.

In the High School it is not planned for Latin pupils to study science, biology, chemistry, or physics, so they need not buy books for both courses unless they wish to take both.

Where pupils were promoted without conditions they should buy their books now before the supply is exhausted.

Parents are asked to give their prompt attention to the examining and the signing of report cards. These cards will be handed out to the pupil on Tuesday after the first Monday of each school month.

Sign these cards after you have examined them carefully and return to the teacher on the next day.

Since the pupil who is tardy or absent will be asked for an excuse, it will be well for each parent to state in writing for what reason the pupil was tardy or absent, and send it to his teacher on the day following.
